MEET IN GREATER SUDBURY

The City of Greater Sudbury is the regional hub for northeastern Ontario and a four-season gem for hosting meetings, conferences, tradeshows and sporting events.

Greater Sudbury is a unique northern experience. This easy to access, culturally diverse urban centre offers best-in-class meeting, event and sporting venues as well as professional support services. Home to 330 lakes—more than any other municipality in Canada—Greater Sudbury is renowned for environmental stewardship as well as expertise in modern mining practices, health care and research. Innovative Sudbury leads the way with two of Canada's top science centres, three post-secondary institutions, a medical school, a school of architecture and a new generation of entrepreneurial thinkers.

TAP INTO LOCAL EXPERTISE

Greater Sudbury has earned an international reputation for underground mining innovation—from automation and digitization to autonomous vehicles and robotics. The city regularly hosts mining conferences and trade delegations and is a recognized world leader in the environmental restoration of mining landscapes.

Regreening Program

Greater Sudbury's 40-year-old Regreening Program is designed to rehabilitate the local landscape and watersheds. The program achievements include:

- 3,400+ hectares limed and grassed to improve land and water quality
- 13 million trees and 80,000 shrubs planted
- The creation of the Jane Goodall Reclamation Trail, a self-guided tour of a reclamation site featuring impacted landscapes and the positive results of regreening

Vale Living With Lakes Centre

This groundbreaking Laurentian University research and monitoring institute fosters innovation in the protection and management of northern aquatic ecosystems. The light-filled venue features classrooms and laboratories, workshop and conference rooms as well as foyer and outdoor patio function space.

ENHANCE YOUR MEETING PROGRAM

Greater Sudbury is recognized for nurturing globally significant research in the areas of mining, health and the environment:

- Health Sciences North is the largest health sciences centre in northern Ontario and is among Canada's Top 40 Research Hospitals. NEO Kids is northeastern Ontario's hub for specialized children's care.
- Collège Boréal recently opened its Centre de recherche appliquée en biodiversité (Applied Research Centre for Biodiversity).
- NORCAT is expanding its Underground Training and Testing Facility, which is used by mining technology clients to develop emerging technologies.

Greater Sudbury boasts a number of R&D and senior government agencies:

- Centre for Excellence in Mining Innovation (CEMI)
- Northern Centre for Advanced Technology (NORCAT)
- Vale Living With Lakes Centre
- Mining Innovation Rehabilitation and Applied Research Corporation (MIRARCO)
- SNOLAB—Sudbury Neutrino Observatory
- McEwen School of Architecture, Laurentian University
- Cambrian Innovates
- Health Sciences North Research Institute (HSNRI)

Did you know...

In the early 1970s, crews from NASA's Apollo 16 and 17 missions visited Greater Sudbury to prepare the astronauts to study meteorite impacts on the moon. Shatter cones were formed billions of years ago when a giant meteor created the Sudbury Basin—the world's second largest known impact crater. You can see shatter cone samples at Science North.

UNIQUE VENUES

SCIENCE NORTH

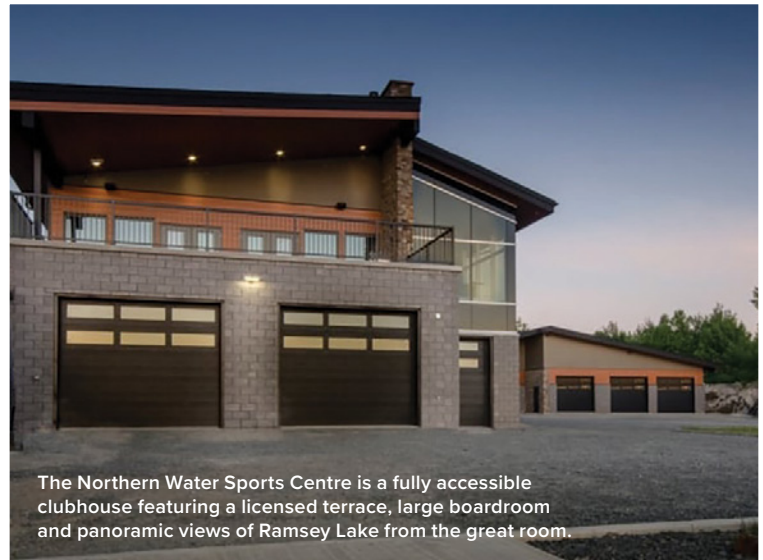

Canada's second-largest science centre is an adventurer's playground. Uniquely designed in the shape of two large snowflakes, corporate groups can rent individual floors, exhibit areas and outdoor patio spaces, or do an entire venue buy-out for cocktail receptions, demonstrations or teambuilding scavenger hunts.

- Inspired by 18th-century medical teaching theatres, Science North's Discovery Theatre seats 120 guests with excellent acoustics for lectures or demonstrations.
- Greater Sudbury played host to an episode of The Amazing Race Canada. When the episode aired, the city hosted a community viewing party at Science North with activities, including an edible insect tasting similar to one featured on the show.

DYNAMIC EARTH

Home to the iconic Big Nickel, Dynamic Earth is an immersive, hands-on science centre focused on earth science and mining experiences. The venue offers a unique mix of meeting, cocktail and gala spaces as well as multimedia theatres, an outdoor science park and more.

- The Underground Mining Tour is a rare opportunity that begins with a descent seven storeys below the surface to the Vale Chasm, which itself is an impressive space for hosting private events for up to 80 guests.

DID YOU KNOW...

The Big Nickel is an exact replica of the 1951 Canadian nickel, weighs 13,000 kg and is the world's largest coin.

IN THE WORKS

- The Junction East will be a new state-of-the-art, multi-purpose cultural hub in Greater Sudbury's historic downtown. This beautiful, technologically sophisticated shared facility will be the new home for the Greater Sudbury Main Library, a next-generation community information and cultural hub, and the Franklin Carmichael Art Gallery of Sudbury, housing one of the largest public community art collections in Canada.
- The Junction West will be a unique, multi-use convention and performance centre, and northeastern Ontario's most innovative venue for hosting scalable events for performing arts, conventions, meetings and tradeshow.
- The new Arena/Event Centre at the Kingsway Entertainment District will be an innovative experience and choice destination for northeastern Ontario. The multi-purpose sports and entertainment facility will include a 6,500-seat arena, a Gateway Casino, an upscale hotel and restaurants, all connected by an outdoor entertainment space.
- Place des Arts, a contemporary arts and culture facility for Francophones and the entire community, is scheduled to open in 2020.

LAURENTIAN UNIVERSITY

One of Canada's top undergraduate institutions, Laurentian University offers 12,000 sq. ft. of flexible event space as well as a full range of conference, meeting, event and catering services.

The Indigenous Sharing and Learning Centre features a unique round-room, a sustainable green roof, two areas specially designated for smudging, an area for the preparation of traditional Indigenous cuisine and access to outdoor teaching spaces.

PHOTOS: LAURENTIAN UNIVERSITY

Located downtown, the boldly designed McEwen School of Architecture incorporates historical buildings (i.e., the former CP Telegraph Building), and offers state-of-the-art meeting and lecture spaces.

Sporting picturesque views of Ramsey Lake, The University Club is an intimate dining and event space featuring seasonal menus as well as a private meeting room and a licensed patio.

“The ability to leverage local expertise is important to us. One of our groups is considering Laurentian University's main campus, particularly the Cliff Fielding Research Building and the R.D. Parker Building / Welcome Centre. We're also looking at the McEwen School of Architecture as a secondary location downtown. We like the Indigenous Sharing and Learning Centre as part of a day program—people want spaces that are not typical and this is an interesting venue designed for collaboration.”
